Council supports bonds, takes no stand on drilling

By DAVID GREGSON
Sentinel Staff Writer

The Ocean Beach Town Council board of directors did exactly the opposite of what the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce did this week, taking no stand at present on the offshore oil drilling issue but taking a firm stand in support of the March 11 special school bond election.

Earlier this week the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously to take no action on request from people United for School Bonds for endorsement of the $91 million issue. The PCC also took a stand against offshore drilling.

COUNCIL DIRECTORS, however, passed the resolution in support of the bond issue in a session which included less than 10 minutes of debate. Mrs. Page Cummins, council vice president, objected to the council stand on the basis that it was "a political issue." Capt. R. W. Wheelock (USN, ret.), second vice president of the council, supported Mrs. Cummins' view. He said all politicians will be asked their position on the school bond issue.

Mrs. Mary Ella Streichun, a director, objected to the issue on the grounds she does not favor junior colleges, also earmarked for funds by the bonds. She told the Sentinel that "back East" junior college students have a "much different attitude" and the students are more "mature."

Realty sales down in PL, rise in OB

Real estate sales recorded during January for the Point Loma area were down, with a total of 39 recorded as compared with 54 the previous month and 38 in January a year ago.

These statistics were revealed to the press this week by Mrs. Pearl M. Lyng of the Title Insurance & Trust Co.

Ocean Beach area sales rose in January, with a total of 38 as compared with 23 the previous month, according to Mrs. Lyng. In January a year ago 43 sales were recorded for the Ocean Beach area, she said.

A MOTHER'S DILEMMA

What—give my daughters the pill?

DOOR OF HOPE RESIDENT
One old answer may fit the new morality.

By SARAH CONGDON
Sentinel Staff Writer

Pregnancy before marriage is "no respecter of persons," an old saying goes.

Maj. Ellen Barton of the Salvation Army's Door of Hope says girls who come to the home for unwed mothers may come from homes that are "very adequate in a material and temporal sense." What the girls have in common is "very low self-esteem, no feeling of worth"—and it comes from an emotional inadequacy she traces to lack of affection received from parents.

"Phoebe," a foreign film formerly shown as an "art" movie, will be open to the public—youths and parents—at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Taft Junior High School auditorium, 9191 Gramercy Dr., Kearny Mesa.

The Serra Mesa Council of PTAs is sponsoring the film. The speaker will be Mrs. Daniel H. Lochtefeld of the city schools' family health division. Mrs. Walter B. Hove and Mrs. Ray E. Hummer will assist.

If the audience wants to stay for a later feature, it's entitled "More Than Love." The second film explains the dangers of drug use during the first three months of pregnancy.

The Sentinel asked Maj. Barton about that, too. She said:

"Girls tell us they have been on drugs, many of them, when they come here. Conflicts they have had with authority add to the conflict they are facing at this time."

"We note a lack in relationship with parents, often a great lack of communication. Both may be talking, but they are not hearing."

The Door of Hope in 1968 served 286 girls, with day care provided for 18,306 others. The total was down from 309 in 1967.

Did the drop imply fewer pre-marital pregnancies? Or fewer who took the Door of Hope way to handle their situation?

Maj. Barton said that nationally the figure is still going up.

"It seems to me premarital sex is more usual, or maybe just more talked about. In the 'new morality,' extramarital sex is surely more condoned," she said.

"With the new availability of contraceptives, it is strange that a vast number of girls are not using them," she said.

She added that when they ask the girls about it, a majority answer: "Oh, but that would make it seem so very deliberate!"

One mother told the Sentinel she is "broad-minded and realistic" enough to want her two teen-age daughters to know all the facts about contraception, and that she wants them to take a pill instead of having a baby—"No question about that."

Had she, then, provided information and pills for her girls?

"Of course not. That would be like telling them to go ahead and have intercourse," she said.

We asked the Door of Hope administrator what the Salvation Army does about birth control information and pills or devices.

"As far as our agency is concerned, we do not feel it is our responsibility or our function to provide birth control information."

"We don't condone premarital sex. Our goal is chastity before marriage, and fidelity in marriage, in the church of the Salvation Army."

"So we do not provide contraception information. If we are asked, we suggest that a girl consult her personal physician or the Planned Parenthood people," Miss Barton said.

"That's skirting the issue, I realize, but that is our position," she added.

Commenting on the statements made by the mother who was interviewed, Miss Barton said she understood her dilemma—"It's like saying it's okay to have intercourse, but just don't get caught."

That's the same philosophy the child sees in adults, for the Door of Hope leader: "It's okay to cheat on your income tax, unless you get caught."

We asked Miss Barton what alternative reasons a girl can have for not participating in sexual activity before marriage, when the fear of eternal hell no longer looms large, contraceptives are available, and syphilis can be controlled or cured.

Is there a more wholesome, honest reason why sex should be reserved for marriage?

"The spiritual meaning of love is not included in sex education sessions. A girl is not going to feel good in her own marriage if she has been too free with one or more boys before marriage."

"I don't regard it as old-fashioned, and I never will until something new-fashioned comes along to take its place," she said.

At the Door of Hope home, girls live two to a room with a housemother, in cottages that can house 13. None are filled to capacity.

The girls are free to come and go at will, but must be in by 9:30 p.m. They may have visitors, after 10:30 a.m.

Parents who order the staff "not to allow my girl to see the boy who fathered the baby" are out of luck, because the home refuses to interfere with a girl's prerogative.

Most of the girls are local. The philosophy that a girl who is pregnant is "shamed" and must be hidden away from friends and family members is long outdated, according to Maj. Barton.

The Door of Hope experience has brought many girls closer to mutual understanding with parents, she said, because they have gone through it together.

"That phone call just now was from the state of Washington. A girl there wants to come here to have her baby. We suggested that she stay close to home."

That movie, again, is on Wednesday.

Thorpe said his doctor felt the physical strain of being council president was not good for his heart and that it would be better for him to resign.

KIMBALL

MRS. ROSS

Needed: creative ways of raising money.

Town Council appoints two

A new face on the Ocean Beach Town Council is Robert S. Kimball, who has accepted the chairmanship of the ways and means committee.

Kimball, 27, is an operations officer for the Ocean Beach branch of the Southern California First National Bank. He lives in Pacific Beach at 3950 Ingraham St.

A native San Diego, Kimball was graduated from San Diego State College with a B.S. degree in marketing. Before that he attended San Dieguito High School, Encinitas.

He is a member and treasurer of the Carlsbad Boat and Ski Club and a past member and tour chairman of the Model A Ford Club of America.

Kimball says that as ways and means chairman he hopes to find "creative ways of raising money for the Town Council."

Newly appointed as chairman of the youth committee is Mrs. Jean Ross, already a familiar figure on the council. She lives at 4542 Adair St. Mrs. Ross asked the council board Thursday for a "telephone contact with people who might need babysitters during the bond election March 11." The board approved that, as well as a motion asking for a "Teen Youth Drive" clean-up and picnic next month.

Mrs. Ross also serves as an advisor to the youth council sponsored by the Town Council. She is seeking support for a meeting March 10 at Point Loma High School, to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. It will be a "sensitivity program on the drug problem," she said. Dr. John Coyne of County University Hospital will speak.

Planners deny application for duplex zoning

City planning commissioners this week denied an application which would have rezoned 1.6 acres in Ocean Beach from a single-family residential zone to one allowing duplexes.

A Planning Department spokesman said the proposal was "an intrusion into an established single-family area." It also is contrary to the zoning proposed in the adopted Peninsula Community Plan.

The property was between Brighton and Cape May Avenues and Froude and Guizot Streets.

Point Loma High graduate dies in action in Vietnam

LYNN P. NAYLOR
Vietnam war victim.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Marine PFC Lynn P. Naylor, 22, who was killed in action in Vietnam Feb. 13.

PFC Naylor was a native San Diego. He was graduated from Point Loma High School and attended San Diego City College. He was part of the "City in Motion" platoon formed here last July 17.

PFC Naylor was attached to the C Company, First Battalion, 9th Regiment, 3rd Division, when he died during a battle in South Vietnam's Quang Tri Province.

Surviving are his wife, Linda; his mother, Mrs. John E.

Naylor; two brothers, Edward and Dale, of San Diego, and two sisters, Sally, out of state, and Mrs. Charles Bartholomew of Long Beach.

Services will be at noon in the Johnson-Saum & Knobel Mortuary Chapel. Military honors will follow, with graveside services at Fort Rosecrans National Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions be made to the John Naylor Memorial Fund for the Northwestern League of De Molay, c/o Louis Pontheim, 5052 Narragansett Ave., San Diego 92107. The fund is for De Molay youths who wish to borrow money for college.

Thorpe quits office as council president

Dick Thorpe turned in his resignation as president of the Ocean Beach Town Council Friday afternoon in a surprise announcement.

Thorpe said his resignation, effective immediately, is because of poor health. "I had a heart attack a year ago," he said. "I will have to give up my duties as president. I leave the office with no hard feelings and with no ill will toward anyone."

The announcement came as a surprise to members of the council's board of directors. However, some board members said they are aware of "personality conflicts" on the board.

Mrs. Page Cummins, town council first vice president, will serve as acting president of the council until board members have a chance to meet to discuss the election of a permanent president. Thorpe was elected president Nov. 7, 1968.

TOWN COUNCIL'S THORPE
No hard feelings.

Ned Titlow, a council director, said, "Thorpe has merely submitted his resignation. The board hasn't accepted that resignation yet." Titlow said he and other directors are in the process of planning a directors' meeting for early this week.

There are indications that Thorpe's resignation may not be the last one and that other directors will follow until the personality conflicts have been resolved.

Thorpe said his doctor felt the physical strain of being council president was not good for his heart and that it would be better for him to resign.

Urban lectures under way

The urban situation will be brought into focus in the lecture series, "Cities in Crisis," offered by the University of San Diego. The first lecture was held this week.

Carroll W. Waymon, executive director, Citizens' Interracial Committee, will present the series of six lectures. The class will meet Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the USD College for Women Rose Room.

The course, the first of its kind at the University of San Diego, can be taken for credit or as a non-credit course.

Waymon, head of the city's official human relations agency, explains that "the crisis in our cities is the acceptance or rejection of the black minorities, and the inclusion of them as full, participating citizens." However, he added, the course will cover the broad range of urban problems.

Topics to be covered are "The Urban Crisis: Definitions; Funds: People and Prices;" "Law, Order and Justice: An Ideal;" "The Minority Mystique and History;" "Government Role in the Urban Crisis;" and "Cities in 1989: Role of Citizens in a Changing Democracy."

B'nai B'rith awards night scheduled

The Edward Breitbard B'nai B'rith 10th annual awards night will honor Joel Forman Saturday with an 8 p.m. dinner at the Bahia Hotel.

Forman is a mathematician at Navy Electronics Laboratory. He was chairman of last year's B'nai B'rith Kids Day. More than 125 children from the Casa De Esperanza orphanage in Tijuana were brought by lodge members to Belmont Park for a day of activities.

President Peter Stovin also will present the freshman of the year award to Martin Einhorn who formed a new Boy Scout troop.

Melville Wolf and Milton Engel will be presented good citizenship awards for their efforts in helping with the lodge's sponsorship for the last three years of a naturalization ceremony of new American citizens.

Four lodge optometrists, Doctors Irving Arbutal, Louis Katz, Jay Kovtun, and Robert Rockstein will receive humanitarian awards for their work in giving eye care for children of the orphanage.

HAPPY OCCASION

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McKewen, of 4416 Mt. Herbert Ave., reacted with smiles last week when they were awarded honorary life memberships in the Andersen School PTA at a Founders' Day meeting. It marked the first time that the PTA presented two life memberships at the same time. Mr. and Mrs. McKewen have been members of the unit since 1961, and she has served as chairman of numerous activities. Both are graduates of San Diego State. McKewen is district counselor at Chesterton School, Hale Junior High and Pacific Beach Junior High.

Husband, wife both named life members

The honorary life membership award in Bird Rock School's PTA this year was shared jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Don Hodo, 704 Archer St., Pacific Beach.

The announcement was made at a Founders' Day program Tuesday in the school auditorium. Hodo is employed with the Recreation Department and is active in Little League and Boy Scouts. Mrs. Hodo works with Girl Scouts and teaches Sunday school classes. They have two children, Cindy, 9, and Mark, 13.

The school library was opened Tuesday and parents and children are invited to visit it.

'Many Faces of Mexico' exhibit starts March 31

An exhibit of 40 paintings showing "The Many Faces of Mexico" will be displayed by American artist Vic Herman in honor of San Diego's 200th anniversary. The exhibit will open Feb. 28, and is sponsored by the government of Mexico and the San Diego Art Institute in Balboa Park, where the paintings will be shown until March 31.

Herman, who has a special fondness for Mexico, has spent many years traveling in Mexico sketching and painting the population, state by state. He is originally from Southern California, has been living in New York and will be moving permanently to San Diego County in July.

"It is worth noting that Mr. Herman's paintings have been exhibited in many cities in Mexico and in the United States," said Rogelio Gudino, director of the Mexican Government Tourism department in San Diego.

"His work has received the enthusiastic approval of art critics, governmental officials, and the general public of both countries," Gudino added.

"Mr. Herman has injected into his Mexican paintings the unquestionable affection that he has felt for my country and her people since his early boyhood," Gudino said.

"Most of his works portray the common people in our many villages, the very soul of our populace, and one immediately becomes aware that he has beautifully interpreted the sense of dignity and pride which is so prevalent among the Mexicans," he added.

FOR 200TH ANNIVERSARY

Charros to recreate trek

The Mexican National Federation of Charros will play a major role in the San Diego 200th Anniversary by recreating the historic Trek to San Diego made by Don Gaspar de Portola and Father Junipero Serra more than 200 years ago.

Depending on the scope of planning by the 200th, the charros will recreate sections of the Trek starting from Mexico City, with fiestas along the way honoring the expedition arrived in this area.

The main part of the proposed Trek will start from Santo Thomas, south of Ensenada, and will follow Serra's route as closely as possible. Copies of Portola's and Serra's original documents describing the Trek will be carried to the Mexico-San Diego border. The Trek will arrive at the border at dawn on June 30, the date Serra's

County business growth predicted by banker

On an over-all basis, business activity in San Diego County will record the best growth in 1969 of any of California's major metropolitan centers, according to one financial expert.

There will be a definite upturn in population increase, he says, with almost 35,000 new residents being added over the year. On July 1 the county will have a population of 1,334,000. The area's economy will generate 23,000 new jobs, and the average for non-agricultural employment during 1969 should be about 350,000. Personal income will also record a sharp growth: for an average family of three, personal income during 1969 will be just over $11,000, as compared to 1968's average of $10,100.

These are some of the highlights of a recent presentation by Dr. Ray Jallow, vice president and chief economist of the United California Bank.

There will be solid gains posted in all sectors of San Diego's economy, Jallow said. Tourism and recreation is rapidly becoming one of the county's biggest industries, and additions to facilities will continue at a rapid pace during 1969. Moreover, the economist noted that economic balance is being maintained, as new plants and projects are continuing to be developed in the manufacturing segment.

Jallow went on to point out that in 1969 San Diego County will have a larger resident count than 15 other states in the nation. Making compar-sons with just the 13 western states, San Diego will be larger population-wise than 8 of them, including Utah, New Mexico, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Wyoming and Alaska.

The banker estimated that the county's gross output will be almost $6.2 billion during 1969. He added that if it were a separate nation it would rank 112th among the 137 sovereign countries of the world as regards population. However, and more importantly, San Diego's gross domestic product would exceed the gross national product of 94 other countries, which would rank it as the 44th largest nation in the world. San Diego's total output is greater than that of many nations that have substantially larger populations, such as Peru, Portugal, Ireland, Taiwan, Algeria, Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia.

Looking at other segments of the San Diego economy, Jallow forecast another big gain in retail sales—$182 million—taking the 1969 sales total to almost $2.2 billion. Construction activity will continue to operate at high levels, in both the residential and nonresidential sectors. There is a strong demand for housing in the area as indicated by vacancy factors, and 1969 could well see about 25,000 residential permits taken out. The only limiting factors, the banker said, would be the cost and availability of mortgage money.

Zoo opens new complex of exhibits

A new complex of eight separate exhibits housing rare or endangered species of pheasants has been opened at the San Diego Zoo.

The enclosures, built at a cost of $25,000, are located in the zoo's recently completed Alpine area on Horn and Hoof Mesa. Of simulated rock and wire-mesh construction, the exhibits are designed and landscaped to approximate the birds' natural habitat. Zoo officials hope the improved aviaries will facilitate breeding.

Included in the rare pheasants on exhibit in the enclosures are pairs of Brown Eared Pheasants, Blue Eared Pheasants, Ocellated Turkeys, Koklass Hill Pheasants, Mikado Pheasants, Palawan Peacock Pheasants, Hume's Battered Pheasants, and three Celebes Males, or Mound-builders.

Along with the pheasants, a variety of parakeets will be exhibited.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By
DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN
Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—My ten year old is not as active as he used to be. Should I bring him in for a checkup?

A—Most ten year olds are filled with energy and constantly on the go but, when they start slowing down and acting out of character it's a good idea to start finding out why. Active children absorb more than their fair share of falls, jolts and sprains while growing up. Frequently these concussions produce minor spinal misalignments that, if allowed to go undetected, can eventually cause serious health problems. School authorities and health officials are aware that many children that are not performing well in school simply have undetected health defects that impede their progress. In many of these cases, Chiropractic research has shown that long forgotten childhood accidents caused tiny vertebral bones to be jarred out of alignment on their spinal columns. This condition, causes pressure or blockage on spinal nerve trunks that carry nerve energy to vital body functions — the heart, eyes, stomach or other major organs of the body. If you suspect spinal problems in your youngster, simply call my office and arrange for a spinal checkup examination. There is no obligation for this examination. I provide this as a public service.

Q—I'd just like to know — how does Chiropractic prevent disease?

A—If there's any interruption in the life force that's carried throughout your body by your nervous system then your resistance to disease is lowered in proportion to the life force loss. Chiropractic care keeps your spinal column properly adjusted making sure that misaligned vertebrae are not interfering with your spinal nerve system and shutting off this life force. A clear spine keeps your resistance high and cuts your susceptibility to illness.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Rd. or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. Phone now 278-2902.

Confidence in McGill

The vote of confidence extended Chancellor William McGill by the Board of Regents in accepting his decision to extend Prof. Herbert Marcuse's contract for another year is of special benefit to the University of California here and to the community it serves.

It leaves the operation of a college in the hands of a trained and dedicated educator. While we have no enthusiasm for the beliefs of such men as Marcuse, we have even less confidence in mob rule, whether it be by students, flag wavers, or demagogic politicians.

Had local pressures influenced the regents to override the chancellor's carefully arrived-at decision, there would have been no difference between this arrangement and that procured by leaders of dissident and rioting students to the north of here.

Under McGill and his predecessors, UCSD has grown quickly into a great university with a large number of outstanding professors. Faculty members who do not perform according to the responsibilities of academic freedom are demoted. (Some students and one faculty member prevented a Marine recruiter from entering the campus).

It also is noteworthy that its students are exemplary in behavior and academic pursuits. They, likewise, are dealt with promptly when they fail to live up to the rules.

There is reason to rejoice that the university is headed by a leader who refuses to be pressured from any direction and that he is supported by a faculty which appreciates this position.

A man of this caliber should be supported, for his principles are as American as the Fourth of July.

Problems of power

Of late, there hasn't been a lot of love lost between the city government and the top brass of the San Diego Gas & Electric Co.

The city officials are not happy with the proposals of the power company for slow-motion undergrounding of their lines and a more recent flare-up which concerns the unsightly voltage lines that will parallel a beautiful new bridge across Mission Valley.

Rate schedules and payments also have created some aches and pains, and now that the power company's franchise to use city streets for its lines comes up for renewal next year, there are some — even on the City Council level — who say this would be the appropriate time to condemn the utility and purchase it for municipal ownership and operation.

A few days ago City Manager Walter H. Hahn Jr. suggested the formation of a committee to probe the aspects of a new franchise and make recommendations to the City Council. He proposed that the membership be composed of the mayor, a councilman, the city attorney, himself, and three private citizens, the latter three to be appointed by the mayor.

A less favorable impression

While this idea did not catch fire among council members, who feel the negotiations could best be carried forward by the city manager and city attorney with the final approval left to the entire council, all seem to agree there is a need for adequate and thorough preparations.

Few operations in the city affect the welfare and growth of this community as much as efficient and adequate gas and electric service.

The leadership of the company in recent years has not made as favorable an impression upon the community as it has in years gone by.

Only a few days ago the Mexican-American community was unintentionally insulted by an advertisement, and an incident that could quickly have been smoothed over was allowed to grow into a regretful confrontation.

The city needs and deserves an acceleration in undergrounding, but the solution proposed by the company would take more than fifty years, city officials say, to completely remove the unsightly lines and poles.

What about public ownership?

There are other pains, too.

Many home developers familiar with the attractive benefits in Orange and Los Angeles Counties, where competing utilities aid, rather than handicap, home builders, would like to see the companies split, with competitive bidding between the two for all-gas or all-electric houses. Those who subscribe to free enterprise and the competitive system should not object to that theory being applied in this field.

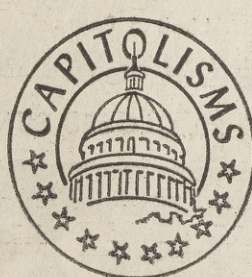

The suggestion of public ownership may not arouse much public enthusiasm, but the idea should not be overlooked, for it provides the city negotiating team a strong option if better terms for a new franchise cannot be secured.

One can be sure, too, that with a multi-million-dollar investment at stake the power company will be well prepared in going after the best contract possible for it without losing the franchise.

And one can be especially certain that with six council seats and the city attorney's office up for grabs, the election this fall will be highly competitive and extremely costly — and very important!

Russia hopes to build a space platform. Of course, we already have one. It's called the moon.

Want to attend GOP dinner? It'll cost a thousand bucks

By PAUL HOPE

WASHINGTON — If you have entered the ranks of business executives lately and been mentioned in the financial pages of the major newspapers, or become a Washington lobbyist, or made a substantial contribution to the Republican party at least once, the chances are almost 100 percent that a call will be forthcoming from the GOP's current "boiler room" fund-raising operation.

It's referred to among Republicans as the "boiler room," but it is really quite a distance from the furnace. More precisely, it's a set of 10 rooms at Washington's newest swank hotel, the Washington Hilton.

A battery of secretaries and "callers" (they don't like to be referred to as solicitors) are telephoning about a thousand people a day asking them to buy a $1,000 ticket to the GOP's super-gala dinner April 2 in Washington.

HUNDRED-DOLLAR dinners used to be the thing. A couple of years ago the ante was raised to $500. But when the Republicans were discussing their latest venture, someone said: "Why not a thousand?" And everybody else said: "Why not?"

So Lee Nunn, the director of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee and an old hand at fund-raising, is at the Hilton directing what the Republicans describe as "one of the largest money-raising dinners in political history."

Actually, the April 2 dinner is not the first $1,000-a-plate Republican affair. President Nixon raised about $5 million in one night during last year's campaign with a nationwide group of such dinners tied together by closed-circuit television. And Lyndon Johnson had a $1,000-a-head "President's Club," the main attraction of which was a dinner where the member might get to shake the President's hand if he happened to come and the crowd wasn't too big.

At any rate, the April 2 dinner is the most expensive ever put on by the Republican National Committee and the Senate and House Republican Campaign Committees.

THEY WERE HOPING for — and no doubt will get — about 3,000 diners, which would mean gross proceeds of $3 million.

The finance men have come up with a new gimmick almost certain to impress the guy who's getting the bite put on for $1,000. The dinner, the "callers" point out, will raise money for the share of the Johnson-to-Nixon transition not being picked up by the federal government.

The amount above the government's share is estimated at about $500,000. The cost of putting on the dinner probably will run $300,000 or so. This leaves some $2 million for the three campaign committees to divide.

Ray Bliss' national committee will get 50 percent (about $1 million); Rep. Bob Wilson's House committee, 30 percent (about $600,000), and Sen. John Tower's Senate committee, 20 percent (about $400,000).

BEFORE NUNN GETS through, he and his colleagues will have contacted about 20,000 people. A majority of them will be people who have contributed to the party in the past. But many will be new — the new executives, for instance, whose names are culled regularly from the Wall Street Journal and financial pages of other papers.

About 400 will be Washington lobbyists, not all of whom will contribute personally but most of whom will pressure the home office to buy a ticket or perhaps a table, which at $1,000 a ticket really gets up into the big money. Any new lobbyist in town — of whom there probably are many with the change of administrations — can't expect to escape for more than a day or two the clutches of political fund-raisers from both the Republican and Democratic parties.

With a Republican President in the White House, and a lot of people anxious to get in good with the new administration, the financial men of the party don't figure they'll have too much trouble coming up with a full house.

One selling point the "callers" have is the assurance that the ticket buyers won't be hit up for another $1,000 dinner for at least another year. Last year the Republican committees had two — at half the price.

Life bugs MacLean. MacLean bugs Life

By DON MACLEAN

WASHINGTON — In a way I hesitate to write this, since it probably will create only more trouble. But if it should cause magazines to sharpen up their subscription-sales practices, perhaps it will do some good.

It all began when an unknown comedian out there in Weirsdville started writing my name and address on those little subscription forms enclosed in magazines. Out of the blue I began getting Jack & Jill, Time, Life, Sports Illustrated and a few others whose names escape me now.

For substance, interest and news value I preferred Jack & Jill to the others, but that's just a matter of taste.

As soon as the bills began to arrive from the magazine companies, I fired off a letter to each, explaining that I was a victim of a practical joke and to stop sending me books.

ONLY LIFE HAS PERSISTED in demanding payment. While the other magazines seem to have accepted the disappointment of not having me as a subscriber, apparently Life believes no one would DARE use it for fun. Its latest demand came from one Charles A. Palmer, credit manager.

In big red letters across the top of the letterhead is printed "SUBSCRIPTION CANCELLED FOR NONPAYMENT." Palmer is not one to mince words:

"Dear Reader: We take little pleasure in putting your name in Life's 'bad pay' file. And it's hard to believe YOU want it that way either — especially since you asked us to enter a Life subscription for you just a few months ago.

"BUT THE HOPE REMAINS there has been some misunderstanding — and so we are going to give you the benefit of the doubt." He goes on to ask for money, and closes with this: "It makes sense for two good reasons. You'll avoid having your name listed in our bad-credit records. And even more important — you and your family will again enjoy... Life."

My answer: "Dear Mr. Palmer: I take little pleasure in putting your name in my circular file. And it's hard to believe YOU want it that way either — especially since I've tried to explain everything in a letter to Life."

"Please examine your records. It makes sense for two good reasons. You'll avoid having me think your organization is totally disorganized. And it may cause you to give some thought as to the desirability of putting out millions of blank subscription forms. Respectfully, Don MacLean."

Nixon disappointing

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — A month has elapsed since Richard Nixon took over the White House. It is not a long time, but it is long enough to foster a sense of unease on the conservative right. Out with it: Mr. Nixon, thus far, disappoints.

KILPATRICK

This is a tentative judgment, subject to reversal as time runs on, and perhaps judgment is too strong a word. It may be no more than a growing concern. Whatever it is — dismay, apprehension, discomfiture — the feeling has begun to take root in conservative circles. Where is the new broom of our autumn exertions?

Some of the critical murmurs, notably on Capitol Hill, arise from old-fashioned partisanship. The country has come a long way from the Jacksonian spoils system; no one wants to go back. All the same, Republicans understandably are yearning for more Republicanism in the White House. For eight years they wandered in the wilderness; in November the New Jerusalem came in sight. Was it all a mirage?

MR. NIXON HAS NOT cleaned house. To be sure, a new Cabinet is in office, but what of that? Bureaucracy is a kind of root vegetable. What counts is underground. It is at the third and fourth levels that memorandums are drafted, regulations enforced, speeches prepared and policies shaped. If Mr. Nixon fails to dig down to these levels, and to put in new men with new ideas, he will harvest the same old thing. Conservative Republicans are not asking for a whole garden of conservative flowers. But in the winter of their discontent, they would like to see an occasional crocus peeking through. They have yet to perceive the first green shoot.

What they see, for one example, is Dr. James E. Allen, newly appointed Commissioner of Education. The gentleman is not, in the conservative view, a reassuring sight. In New York, Dr. Allen became known as "Mr. Busing," from his peculiar obsession with the notion that the way to improve education is to bus children by the hundreds, by the thousands, in order to achieve racial balance.

DR. ALLEN IS TO SERVE as an assistant to Robert Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. And what of Mr. Finch? In his first public appearance, on "Meet the Press," he spoke largely of his intention to involve the federal government in vast new areas of elementary and secondary education. Historically, these areas have been the responsibility of the states and localities. The ominous prospect arises, no larger than Elijah's cloud, that a far more pervasive federal role is envisioned.

There is more. Mr. Nixon left the impression, throughout the campaign period, that he looked with a cool eye on the Soviet Union. He opposed ratification of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty as an expression of national indignation at the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Yet Mr. Nixon scarcely had taken off his hat last month before he was asking for prompt and favorable action on the treaty. In the conservative view, the treaty is at best a gesture. Is there really some good purpose to be served by making the gesture now?

CONSERVATIVES HAD expected to see the emergence of specific plans for dismantling at least a part of the welfare house that Lyndon Johnson built. Nothing has come along. They had hoped that at least one of Mr. Nixon's ten thousand committees would have formulated solid ideas for reform of labor law. Nothing yet; nothing in sight. Pat Moynihan's affable face rises like a moon over urban affairs. Otto Otepka, the State Department security officer who was ousted by a liberal vendetta, remains on the beach.

Well, perhaps we expected too much. And the record, of course, has its encouraging aspects. Postmaster General Winton Blount has begun some welcome reforms in the mail. Attorney General John N. Mitchell has put the wiretap weapon to use against organized crime. The Paris peace talks show evidence of motion, if not progress. Mr. Nixon's recommendations for beefing up law enforcement here in Washington were sound.

One swallow doesn't make a summer; a month doesn't fix a President's course. All that ought to be said right now is that hungry conservatives have been waiting politely since November to be fed. Throw us a bone, Mr. President! Throw us a bone!

Harris Poll

Moon shot opposed

By LOUIS HARRIS

More Americans oppose landing a man on the moon (49 percent) than favor such a space project (39 percent). While the reaction of the public to the dramatic Apollo 8 flight around the moon and back was 3-to-1 positive, a majority of Americans (55 percent) nevertheless agree that it is "not worth $4 billion a year to explore the moon and other planets in outer space."

These facts emerged in a special Harris Survey among 1,544 households in a national probability sampling. On the key question dealing with the lunar landing mission, scheduled later this year, people were asked:

"Do you favor or oppose the space project aim of landing a man on the moon?"

	LANDING A MAN ON THE MOON
	Favor %	Oppose %	Not Sure %
Nationwide	39	49	12
By Sex
Men	46	43	11
Women	32	54	14
By Region
East	45	41	14
Midwest	36	49	15
South	33	56	11
West	43	47	10
By Age
Under 35	51	39	10
35 - 49	43	46	11
50 and over	28	57	15
By Education
8th grade or less	19	65	16
High school	37	51	12
College	62	28	10

The East is the only section of the country to endorse the moon landing, and the four-point spread there is scarcely beyond the statistical margin of error in a sample of this size. Women, older citizens and the less well educated are all opposed to the space program. Men, younger people and the college-educated are the ones who tend to favor space exploration.

The division over the simple question on the moon is the closest of three separate tests made in the Harris Survey. When a price tag of $4 billion is associated with continuance of the program, opposition nationally rises to 55 percent as against 34 percent who are willing to spend that much. When people are asked whether they would support the space effort if Russia were not in direct competition with the United States, opposition increases to 59 percent and support dwindles to 30 percent.

When people were asked to express in their own words why they feel the way they do about the space program, five chief points of criticism of the space effort emerged:

1. "Use the money for problems here at home."
2. "We can use the money better to help mankind."
3. "There is no reason to explore the moon or the planets."
4. "God never intended us to go into space."
5. "It's just a waste of money; there will be nothing there of value when we get there."

The minority supporting the space thrust volunteered three main arguments:

1. "It will provide us with real scientific discoveries."
2. "We have to move ahead in space or lose prestige to Russia."
3. "Man must accept his scientific challenge or perish."

Reaction to the recent flight of the Apollo 8 was overwhelmingly positive. Most Americans were "thankful the crew got back safely," "felt a sense of great accomplishment," "found the whole experience fascinating and uplifting," and were "bound up in a sense of pride and patriotism" many had not felt for a long time before.

However, the temporary euphoria over the Apollo 8 flight had staying power only with the most affluent sectors of American society. Majority opinion at this stage clearly does not feel the space program is worth the commitment of money and national priority it has received in the past.

HARRIS

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Brass, not Bucher, should be put on trial

By DREW PEARSON
and JACK ANDERSON

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The deeper the Navy delves into the Pueblo affair, the more compelling is the evidence that some swivel-chair admirals should be on trial.

They dispatched a slow, undefended, ill-equipped ship into troubled waters to spy on North Korea. She was loaded with electronic gear, tapes and documents so secret that even the skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher of San Diego, wasn't permitted full access. Yet, in case of capture, sledgehammers were the only available destruction devices, and the documents had to be stuffed into weighted canvas bags and dumped overboard.

Machine guns were mounted on board, but Bucher was ordered to keep them tightly covered in sensitive waters to avoid suspicion. Despite three warnings from the irascible North Koreans immediately before the seizure, the admirals neither withdrew the Pueblo nor took steps to protect her. Half a dozen Air Force fighters, which had been kept on alert in South Korea to protect a sister spy ship on a less provocative mission, were left in Okinawa 900 miles away while the Pueblo cruised off the North Korean coast.

WHEN THE PUEBLO WAS first intercepted and circled by two North Korean vessels, the radio officer couldn't raise Navy headquarters in Japan for 14 hours. The message didn't reach the Pentagon for 25 hours and 35 minutes.

This incredible botch-up is another in an alarming series of incidents that have shaken public confidence in the Navy. In an unpublished manuscript sent to us for preview, Daniel Gallery, a retired admiral, complains sadly:

"The dry rot from ashore is beginning to get into our ships . . . It used to be that a captain's main concern in training his crew and running his ship was to make her a man-o-war. Now a captain must look back over his shoulder and ask himself, 'What will the public relations boys back in the Pentagon think of this?'"

The main occupation of the admirals who man the desks at the Pentagon seemingly is to keep their gold braid untarnished.

Here are some of the results:

SCORPION AFFAIR—THE nuclear submarine Scorpion disappeared in the Atlantic last May. For five months the Navy searched the ocean bottom in vain for the wreckage, until the Russians helpfully pointed out where the Scorpion had gone down. The untold truth is that the Soviet navy kept better track of the Scorpion than did our own Navy. The underwater pictures don't reveal the cause of the tragedy, except that there was no evidence of an explosion. Apparently the ocean pressure simply crushed the hull like an egg. Yet for seven years the Navy has ignored warnings that defective steel plates have been going into submarine construction. Just this month Navy officials were offered evidence that at least one steel company has disguised defective plates and knowingly delivered them to shipyards.

LIBERTY AFFAIR—When the Israelis ripped into their Arab neighbors in June, 1967, two warnings were dispatched to the American spy ship Liberty to clear out of the area. The first message was delivered to the naval communications station in the Philippines. The second reached the Mediterranean, but was erroneously routed to a relay station in Morocco. Meanwhile, Israeli planes, mistaking the Liberty for an Egyptian ship, bombed it and killed 34 crewmen.

ARNHEITER AFFAIR—Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, the gung-ho skipper of the picket ship Vance, upset some junior officers by attacking enemy targets on the Vietnam coast too aggressively and by cracking down on his crew's allegedly lax ways. These complaints to a Navy chaplain resulted in Arnheiter's summary dismissal. He demanded the right to face his accusers at a court-martial. By this time, however, so many admirals had become involved in the decision—stemming partly from official reports regarding his emotional stability—that they gave him the runaround until this column took up his cause. Despite nationwide publicity, the admirals, rather than risk embarrassment in an open court, refused Arnheiter the court-martial.

ALEXANDER AFFAIR—Capt. Richard Alexander, one of the Navy's most promising officers, who had been given command of the battleship New Jersey, felt Arnheiter had received a raw deal. Troubled by his conscience, he put his career on the line and protested to the Secretary of the Navy over Arnheiter's treatment. Alexander summed up the case in a letter demanding: "Mr. Secretary, the question all your officers will ask is: How the hell can this happen in the U.S. Navy?" Instead of a court-martial for Arnheiter, he was abruptly transferred from the bridge of the New Jersey to command an ancient mahogany desk in the Boston Navy Yard.

CHEEK AFFAIR—FOUR disgruntled seamen complained to Rep. Mendel Rivers that their skipper, Cmdr. Glen Cheek of the USS Ault, had worked them too hard and had cut back their weekend leaves. Rivers forwarded the complaints to the admirals who, eager to placate the powerful House Armed Services chairman, summarily stripped Cheek of his command. Apparently it made no difference that three of the four instigators later retracted their complaints and that almost everyone else on board signed statements praising Cheek. The admirals stubbornly stuck to their decision to relieve him "for cause." However, they recognized the injustice and made it up to Cheek afterward, as a reward for keeping his mouth shut, by promoting him to captain.

As Gallery declares in his unpublished manuscript: "The Navy and the ideals that it used to stand for helped to make this country the greatest in the world . . . It could do the country a great service by instilling some of the old ideals into the young men who serve in it." (©1969, Bell-McClure Synd.)

Class sizes reduced in local schools

The average size of elementary classes in the city schools has been reduced dramatically in the last six years, according to Dr. Orville Affreth, assistant superintendent in charge of the elementary division.

The average class size was 33 in the fall of 1962, but had been reduced to 29.8 by the fall of 1968. Affreth said class-size reduction is considered an important element in improving the quality of an educational program. It has various beneficial effects, including giving teachers more time to provide individualized instruction and to try new and improved methods.

'Up With People' slates 'Salute' this evening

San Diego's Civic Theater will come alive with action on Sunday at 8 p.m. when today at 8 p.m. when San Diego County's three "Up With People" musical groups will share the spotlight in a musical "Salute to Heroes" benefit performance for "Vietnam Gift-Pac."

"Let's Go San Diego," "Sing-Out Escondido," and "Sing-Out San Dieguito" will pay tribute to our fighting men in Vietnam with this benefit. All proceeds will be used to send gift packages to American servicemen in Vietnam.

Each $5 Gift-Pac donated will admit one free orchestra or two balcony admissions to this performance. A donation of two or more packs will admit one in the special patrons section.

Anyone wishing to send a Gift-Pac to a serviceman who cannot attend the performance may make a $5 contribution for the Gift-Pac and their ticket will be given to a wounded serviceman at the U. S. Naval Hospital.

Twelve heroes decorated for bravery in Vietnam will be honored in person with a special recognition ceremony by the "Up With People" cast.

Telephone man talks to Rotary

The evolution of telephone technology was traced here Wednesday for members of Pacific Beach Rotary Club.

The speaker was Dick Garlock, a member of Pacific Telephone's lecture-demonstration team. He explained to Rotarians how a telephone dial controls the biggest maze-solving machine in the world—the Bell System's telephone switching network.

Garlock described the evolution of telephone technology from its beginning at a primitive switchboard in New Haven, Conn., to the new range of services promised by electronic switching. He documented his presentation by the use of color slides and a "complexity board."

A. L. Latta served as program chairman.

Local Army man will participate in Reforger I

Army PFC Douglas B. Ebersole son of Mrs. Louise L. Ebersole, San Diego, and Raymond V. Ebersole, 1381 Everview Rd., Clairemont, is in Germany as a mechanic with the 24th Infantry Division taking part in the military exercise Reforger I.

The exercise, to be conducted in Europe in January and February 1969, involves U. S. Army units based in the U. S. and Europe. It includes about 12,000 Army troops assigned to the 24th Infantry Division, based at Ft. Riley, Kan. These units were flown to Europe in January.

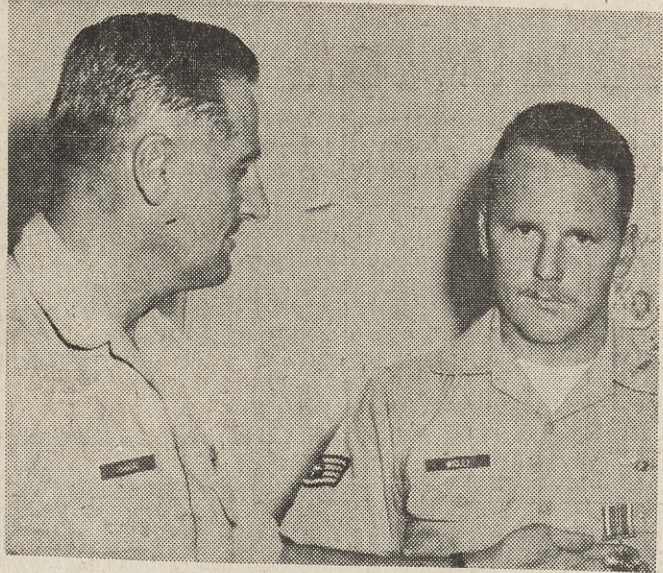

Reforger I will evaluate and further develop techniques for the deployment of U. S. NATO forces to Europe, and is the first in a projected series of annual exercises for those units and for other units based in Germany.

Refrigerators are sought

Maj. Robert Yardley, chairman of a group of seven public welfare agencies and San Diego's Salvation Army city commander, has issued a plea for public assistance in the major food commodity distribution program being undertaken by the San Diego County Welfare Department through seven volunteer contracting agencies, each of which will distribute large amounts of food items in the countywide program.

The appeal is for older but serviceable refrigerators or freezers, residential or commercial. They are needed to store perishables such as cheese, butter, margarine and lard. The program will serve 17,000 to 20,000 individuals. Persons who can help may contact Yardley at 239-8027.

Sometimes a fellow pins his faith to a star, and discovers later that it was a firefly.

FLYING CROSS

Staff Sgt. Benny L. Wigley, 3rd Special Operations Squadron, USAF, whose wife, Paula, lives at 1946 Coolidge St., Kearny Mesa, recently was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in ceremonies at Phan Rang, Vietnam. Base Commander Col. Stanley Oroiski (left) presented the award, which was given for the aerial flight of an AC-47 Loadmaster last April 3, involving the precision dropping of flares by the airmen. The action saved a friendly group from complete annihilation by enemy forces. Wigley is a 1964 Kearny High School graduate.

Don't forget the surcharge

Don't forget the tax surcharge when filing your 1968 income tax form, advises F. S. Schmidt, district director for the Internal Revenue Service.

Schmidt says many taxpayers are failing to compute the surcharge, which was enacted by Congress in 1968. Returns not showing correct surcharge computations must be pulled from processing, delaying refund checks by one week or more.

Taxpayers have been reminded that line 8b on Form 1040 are for surcharge computations. Schmidt says many taxpayers completing these lines on their return forms are subtracting the surcharge instead of adding it to the tax due.

The annual surcharge is figured at 10 percent. Since it was effective for only nine months of 1968, the rate is 7.5 percent instead of the full 10 percent.

Jeff Washburn, 9, of 3605 Liggett St., won the fastest car sweepstakes recently in the YMCA's model car derby at Point Loma High School. The perpetual trophy went to the Yaqui Tribe of the All are first place winners. Design winners were Steve Sundell and Scott Hardigsen, first grade; J. G. Hull, second grade and Randy Harris and Mart Wimer, third grade. First place winners for the fastest car are Jay Federhart, first grade; Phil Arnotage, second grade and Jeff Washburn, third grade.

Some car fees deductible from state, federal taxes

What portion of last year's California vehicle registration fee is deductible for income tax purposes in the federal and state returns which taxpayers are preparing to file by April 15?

Department of Motor Vehicles Director Verne Orr says most passenger vehicle owners can find the deductible amount by subtracting $11 from the total on each car, and $12 on each station wagon, paid at registration time in 1968.

"The $11 car fee and $12 station wagon fee were flat annual registration payments imposed by the Vehicle Code, and not deductible," he explained. "The balance was a two percent tax based on the value of the vehicle, collected in lieu of local property taxes and returned to cities and counties under the Revenue and Taxation Code. The 'in lieu' portion is deductible."

Owners of vehicles paying weight fees and/or paying quarterly may need to consult local offices of the Internal Revenue Service or State Franchise Tax Board before April 15 to establish legally deductible amounts paid during 1968. Owner should take along DMV receipts.

Whale parade all over now

The annual California grey whale migration is about over for the year, according to Thomas R. Tucker, superintendent of Cabrillo National Monument.

"Last Saturday marked the end of the official whale census for 1968-69," he said.

For the last two years an official whale-counting station has been manned at Cabrillo by personnel of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Department of the Interior. This year some 1,176 whales were counted over an eight-week period.

"We may sight a few strays over the next two weeks," Tucker said, "but most of the whales have passed south of San Diego by now."

With the end of the whale migration, the schedule of auditorium interpretive presentations and film programs at the Monument Visitor Center has changed. The schedule now is as follows: Wednesday through Sunday: At 12:30 p.m., "Our Living Heritage," a film on National Park Service areas; 1:30 and 3:30, "Voyage of Juan Cabrillo," a narrated slide talk; 2:30 and 4:30, "The California Grey Whale," a documentary film.

Visitors have been reminded that the auditorium is closed each Monday and Tuesday and no film programs are offered on those two days. However, the monument grounds are open seven days a week.

Plays by Shaw set this week

The Speech and Drama Department of California Western University will present three one-act plays by George Bernard Shaw in the Salomon Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. Each of the comedies will be set and costumed in a different period, according to the director, Bill Irish. "How He Lied To Her Husband" will be done in Victorian style, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets" as an Elizabethan offering, and "Passion, Poison and Petrification" will exhibit Shaw's mod, mod world of farce.

Community planning, race relations, poverty and welfare, housing, and urban government will be areas of study.

Some 44 teachers will be selected from applications received from various points of the country by April 6. Preference will be given teachers from disadvantaged communities.

Applications are available from Kitchen at the School of Public Administration and Urban Studies, San Diego State College, San Diego 92115.

Spending by visitors tops '67 total

Visitor spending in San Diego County during the fourth quarter of 1968 jumped 15.4 percent to bring the year's total to a record $356 million, up from $308 million in 1967.

Thomas A. Clarkson, president of the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, said a preliminary estimate last December had shown visitor spending in 1968 at $350 million.

Clarkson said his figures were derived from continuing surveys conducted by Dr. Oscar Kaplan, the bureau's research consultant.

Visitor spending in the fourth quarter of 1968 set a new record of $81 million, up from $68 million in the fourth quarter of 1967, Clarkson said.

He said final tabulations show $131 million spent by visitors staying in hotels and motels $86 million spent by visitors staying in private homes; $10 million spent by visitors staying in trailers; $17 million spent by visitors renting private homes; $16 million spent by American visitors who did not stay overnight, and $94 million spent by visitors from Mexico.

Of the total amount spent by visitors, 290,305 delegates accounted for $43 million during 468 conventions, Clarkson said.

He said the average expenditure per person per day of all visitors to San Diego County was $7.15. The average daily visitor population of Americans in the county throughout 1968 was 94,591, he said, and the average population of Mexican visitors in the county was 41,922.

Of the visitors who stayed in private homes with friends and relatives, one percent were here on business, 80 percent were here for pleasure, and 19 percent combined business and pleasure, he said.

The beaches ranked as the favorite attraction for people who stayed in private homes, Clarkson said, but the San Diego Zoo was No. 1 with those who stayed in hotels and motels.

Overall, the top attractions in order of importance were the beaches, Zoo, Sea World, La Jolla Old Town, Cabrillo National Monument and the Convention Center Clarkson said.

You'd better report ALL of that income

Income from all sources, unless specifically exempt by law, is subject to tax and must be reported on your 1968 federal income tax return, says P. S. Schmidt, district director of Internal Revenue for Southern California.

Interest must be reported in the year it is credited to your account and you can draw it out, even though it may not be entered on passbooks until the following year. The same is true of interest on insurance dividends left on deposit with an insurance company.

Taxpayers may elect to report interest on Series E and F U. S. Savings Bonds each year. They may, however, defer reporting the interest until the bonds mature or are cashed in.

So-called dividends on deposits or shares of building and loan associations, savings and loan associations, credit unions, mutual and cooperative savings banks are taxed as interest income.

The gross amount of dividends and other distributions must be listed on the return, but the first $100 of dividends received is not generally subject to tax.

Interest on state and municipal obligations is exempt from tax except for some industrial bond issues.

The amount of interest received is not material. All interest received must be reported, even though the payer does not issue a statement to depositors.

The instruction booklet received with the 1968 tax forms lists the items of income that should be reported. A careful review of his records will help the taxpayer report all income.

Publication 550, "Tax Information on Investment Income and Expenses," furnishes more detailed information on reporting interest income and may be obtained by sending a postal card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service Tax Forms, P. O. Box 1711, Los Angeles 90053.

UC Extension notes record enrollment

The University of California Extension has registered a record number of persons for its 1969 winter quarter. Enrollment in regular classes and special program totaled 3,100, while registrations continue to mount for a variety of one-day conferences.

In addition to its students, the extension reaches numerous other persons through its Urban Affairs Department, which works with such groups as Head Start, the Citizens' Interracial Committee and the Economic Opportunity Commission.

The increased enrollment over last winter's figure of 2,846 came about despite an increase in the cost of courses. An average increase of $5 became necessary when the extension stopped receiving state support and became entirely self-supporting.

The trend in increased enrollment is expected to continue into the spring quarter, which begins March 24, a spokesman said.

The spring issue of EXPLORE, the extension catalog, is now available. Persons wishing a copy may write to University Extension, P. O. Box 109, La Jolla 92037, or phone 453-2000, Ext. 2061.

Adoption Services celebrates its 21st

While San Diego celebrates its 200th anniversary, Adoption Services of San Diego County is celebrating its 21st.

On Feb. 11, 1948, San Diego County became the first public agency in California to be licensed to place children for adoption programs and procedures, and many new trends. Adoption programs have grown rapidly, especially in metropolitan areas like San Diego.

For example, during the first fiscal year of its operation, Adoption Services of San Diego County placed 33 children with adoptive families. Today more than 600 are placed each year. From four workers the agency has grown so that there is now a branch office in Vista.

Adoption requirements are realistic. Adoption Services of San Diego County is primarily interested in a person's ability to be a parent to a child born to someone else. Other things like age, finances, and housing are secondary.

In 1948, only childless couples could adopt. Today, couples who have children of their own and mature single adults also are encouraged to apply.

It used to be that adoption agencies tried to match children and families exactly. Today this is not considered important, unless it is to the family. Many families are adopting children who have a different ethnic background.

The entire adoption process has been speeded up so that today children are placed with a family three to five months after they apply. There is no long waiting list. Children are also placed much younger than previously.

Today most babies are placed in permanent home between 10 days and two months of age. Although most children available for adoption are problem-free, Caucasian babies, the agency has been able to place children of minority ethnic backgrounds, eight percent had medical problems, and 11 percent were over two years of age.

During the last 21 years Adoption Services here has placed over 4,500 children for adoption. Miss Jane Redwine, chief of Adoptive Services, looks forward to many changes in adoption programs during the future, changes which will serve to place more and more children for adoption, especially those who now wait for families. Agencies have begun to place children outside their own localities, and soon will be placing them throughout the United States and Canada routinely.

In the immediate year, Miss Redwine sees her agency placing its 5,000th child. Also, a new metropolitan adoption building should be completed, probably by December.

Anyone interested in more information about any phase of adoption may call Adoption Services at 234-3281 or 274-8881. There is no obligation. Families are needed for children from newborn to teenagers.

Heart workers still hope to hit $64,000 goal

Preliminary tabulation of funds collected during Heart Sunday last week indicates that more than $35,000 has been raised toward a campaign goal of $64,000, according to Mrs. John M. Athaide, Heart Sunday chairman.

"The weather wasn't all we had hoped it would be during our four-day campaign, especially on Saturday when it rained, so some of our volunteers were continuing their efforts on behalf of the Heart Fund," Mrs. Athaide said. "There are about three more areas yet to turn in their receipts, and this involves the efforts of about 750 volunteers, so we still have every expectation of reaching our goal."

"Also, those workers who have already reported in have informed me that residents of many homes called on were not at home. Heart Sunday envelopes were left, none-the-less, and we're urging them to please mail or bring in their contributions to Heart headquarters, 3545 Fourth Ave.," Mrs. Athaide said.

Many a man has genius capabilities and not enough common sense to put them into practice.

To Your Health

It's now official: mumps vaccine is here to stay, and mumps is due to go. You can take the word of the U. S. Public Health Service, which originally recommended the vaccine for limited use and has now extended the scope of its approval after more than a year of highly satisfactory performance by the immunizing agent.

The vaccine is now recommended for all susceptible children over the age of one year. "Susceptible" refers to all those who haven't already had the disease and acquired immunity thereby.

By last November, the vaccine had been administered to more than a million persons and no significant side effects had been reported. More than 95 percent of those vaccinated have developed immunity equivalent to that which results from the actual disease. While it is too early to determine how long immunization can be counted on to last, some early recipients of the vaccine still show an undiminished number of protective organisms in their bloodstreams after more than three years.

Of course children aren't the only beneficiaries of mumps vaccine. While the disease is characteristically one of school-age youngsters, 15 percent of persons whom it attacks are past the age of puberty; some are adolescents or full-fledged adults. Among the 15 percent, about one-fifth of males in the past have suffered damage to the reproductive organs. Mumps vaccination is therefore a must for all males at or past puberty who have not had the disease.

BLACK ATHLETES HONORED

Glad to have you!

More than 700 persons crowded into the William J. Oakes Boys Club last week to meet and greet some of San Diego's outstanding black professional athletes and say "We're glad to have you here."

Mayor Frank Curran presented the keys to the city to Elvin (Big "E") Hayes of the San Diego Rockets.

Clinton D. McKinnon, owner of the Sentinel and commissioner for February of the San Diego 200th Anniversary Committee, presented anniversary medallions to all the athletes present and stressed their contributions to the city.

Judge Earl Gilliam presented each athlete with a certificate of recognition. The certificates expressed the sentiments of the community in stating:

"In recognition of your contributions in the field of professional athletics, which have contributed much to the positive image of blackness for the youth and the citizenry of our community, our city and our country."

Athletes present to receive recognition, besides Hayes, were Speedie Duncan, Dick Speights, Bob Howard, Jim Hill, Kenny Graham, Dave Grayson, Floyd Robinson, Tommy Reynolds and Mickey Tyler and her track team, Mickey's Missiles.

Entertainment was provided by the US organization. The boot dancers, Taifa dance troupe, and Afro-American drummers performed.

Education on drugs goes into 2nd year

The county Department of Public Health has reported that it has completed its first full calendar year of drug abuse education for teen-age school dropouts.

Dr. J.B. Askew, director of public health, said that from October, 1967, through last December public health educators gave 139 educational programs on drug abuse for 3,285 persons. Attendance included 1,116 teen-age school dropouts, 1,650 parents living in poverty areas and 519 professional persons working with dropouts.

In the North Shores area, nine educational programs on drug abuse were attended by 139 school dropouts in Linda Vista, and one was attended by 11 dropouts in Clairemont. Additional educational programs were given in this area for parents and professional staff working with youth groups.

Askew said the health department's drug abuse education program was planned in cooperation with city and county schools "so we could reach teen-agers not currently enrolled and unable to participate in the drug abuse education offered in the schools."

He added that public health educators have worked with a wide variety of youth and welfare agencies to find school dropouts, "who, without a doubt, are the group at the very highest risk of becoming involved with drug abuse."

"The goal of our program," Askew said, "is to help these young people realize the dangers of misusing drugs, so the drug user will seek medical help, the experimenter will stop, and the non-user won't start."

"In order to teach effectively, it is necessary to know as much as possible about the knowledge levels, attitudes and experiences of the dropouts. Our public health educators have developed a simple anonymous test using slips of colored paper by which the school dropout indicates whether he is a non-user, an experimenter, or a user of drugs. To date only one teen-age school dropout has refused to participate," he added.

Askew said that of 204 individual school dropouts taking the test, 96, or 47 percent were non-users; 92, or 45 percent, were drug users, and 16, or eight percent were experimenting with drugs.

In addition to the color tests, 297 dropouts have taken a questionnaire developed "to give us some indication of the attitudes of these teen-agers toward drugs. One of the attitudes found by these tests is that the average teen-age dropout thinks it is relatively easy to stop taking drugs and difficult to become 'hooked,'" he said.

Underwater park here gets okay

The state Park and Recreation Commission has unanimously approved proposals for an underwater park at Torrey Pines State Reserve here.

The Commission resolutions state that appropriate legislation should be sought to acquire the lands. The lands. The proposed park would be under the jurisdiction of the state Land Commission, according to William Penn Mott Jr., director of the state Department of Parks and Recreation.

Dr. Robert Dill of the Naval Undersea Warfare Center, headed the advisory board on Underwater Parks and Reserves and recommended that action be taken immediately to establish the local underwater park.

The Torrey Pines park will be six miles in length. It will stretch from a point past Del Mar city limits south to La Jolla Point. The park will be a mile in width.

The park includes two large submarine canyons which are reportedly "scenic."

Evening College

San Diego Evening College has won a full three-year accreditation from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

In its first attempt, Evening College became the first institution of its type in California and, as far as can be determined, in the United States, to be accredited as a separate entity. The college was formerly accredited jointly with San Diego City and San Diego Mesa colleges, as an operational unit with the San Diego Junior College.

Homecoming Week under way at USD

University of San Diego alumni have begun their first joint Homecoming Week. The events are the first for the newly coordinated colleges on campus.

An alumni baseball game and a concert by Stevie Wonder will lead off the week of festivities today through Sunday.

USD students gave Homecoming a rousing start by running a young man against the six Homecoming Queen Contestants, Anthony Caruso, 20, of Monterey Park did not make it to the final runoff, but the honor student still will play a part in the festivities.

When Patricia Curley, 21, of La Mesa, learned she was the winning queen, she found herself a king, Pat and Tony are reigning as Queen and King of Homecoming.

The annual College for Men alumni baseball game will pit the alums against the USD baseball team at 1:30 p.m. today at Beeson Field Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

Eighteen-year-old Stevie Wonder, popular recording artist, will perform at the USD gym at 8 p.m. today. "He is likely to sing or play anything," said the student organizers of the concert. He has mastered the piano, organ, drums and harmonica. The blind singer covers a broad range of music styles, rhythm and blues, in his repertoire.

The Committee, a San Francisco group, will present a program of political and social satire at the USD College for Women Theater at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

On Tuesday, students will take a bus to see the USD-Pepperdine basketball game.

The Film Forum Wednesday will present "The Taming of the Shrew" at 7 p.m. in the College for Women theater. Students have planned go-kart races and a snowball fight Thursday. Also on their schedule is a picnic dinner around the USD lanal.

There will be a home basketball game Friday, with USD battling Chapman College. The game will be followed by a folk music concert in the USD gym. Chicago recording artists will be featured.

Alumni and students have events scheduled for Saturday. The alumni of the USD College for Men, College for Women and School of Law will hold a reception at 5 p.m. honoring the USD executive committee, which governs the area of joint concerns of the three colleges.

The law school alumni will meet in the faculty dining room, De Sales Hall. The other alumni will meet in the Rose Room, College for Women.

A buffet dinner for all alumni will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the College for Women dining hall.

The homecoming game, USD vs. the University of California here, will begin at 8 p.m. in the USD gym.

Students will hold a "Champagne Dinner" at the Lark Cafeteria at 5 p.m. Following the game, the students will hold the Homecoming Dance at the Le Baron Hotel.

Sunday's events for alumni will begin with a folk mass at 9:30 a.m. in the College for Women chapel. A family brunch at 10:15 will be given in the College for Women dining hall.

AND HE DOESN'T HAVE TO BE YOUR HUSBAND

House hunting? Bring along a man

By SARAH CONGDON
Sentinel Staff Writer

Single mothers are learning a secret about survival in San Diego.

If a woman with children can't find a husband, or is forbidden to remarry, a convenient way to find housing is to find a man—any man—to live with her.

That's what the landlords imply, according to divorcees and widows with children who have talked to the Sentinel about their housing problems.

Maybe, the reporter ventured, the mothers are jealous? They admitted jealousy.

BUT THE WOMEN ARE not jealous of the man who "sleeps in" and perhaps co-signs the rent receipt. They just envy his housemate the quarters she lives in.

One realty management firm reported that most landlords "frown on" renting to women without husbands, many frown on renting to women on welfare, but most of all they frown when they see a large number of children, the manager said.

No landlord in the vicinity where the Sentinel went househunting—Linda Vista—indicated that he does not welcome minority races.

The research analyst for the county Welfare Department, Charles James, said 301 cases in the AFDC program (Aid to Families With Dependent Children) live in the area, most of them in four census tracts that have an estimated population of 14,380, according to a senior planner for the city, George Orman.

A RECENT COUNTY study puts 84 percent of AFDC cases as "father absent from the home."

How much "frowning" by the landlord comes from prejudices and how much from learned experience? One landlord said the two terms are the same, "as far as I can see."

He said he had had "unfortunate experiences" with too many children in the home, and with welfare recipients as tenants.

The reporter watched landlord William O. Nerren supervise the clean-up of a recently vacated duplex. The spick-and-span interior was almost complete (the place is already rented, ladies!) but the back door was grubby with encrusted filth, the only sign that the duplex had been lived in.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE Fix, who manage the Village

EVICTED TO THE STREET?
First they lock up the furniture.

Apartments, refused to rent one of several vacant apartments to a woman without a man. "No divorcees or single people," each said firmly.

Mrs. Fix said prior tenants had parties "from Friday night to Sunday night," with fights, police, drag races and flying bottles.

Women who live there now are "real nice, all settled down," she said.

"We have lost five good tenants on account of one bad one, but now it's real nice. Everybody has just one parking place, we have full maintenance, and no garbage is lying around," she added.

Mrs. Josephine Archuleta was faced with eviction Friday, she told the Sentinel, and mourned: "I don't know where we'll go. The mother of seven lives with her four children in a house condemned as substandard—or she lived there at this writing."

Another welfare mother, Mrs. Rhutator Everett, has six children at home and no husband. "I am a Catholic, so my husband got the divorce," she said. The Everetts moved in October into the house they were evicted from Thursday.

On Dec. 1 the rent was raised from an agreed-upon $130 per month to $150, she said. She couldn't pay that much, she added. During the first week and a half in October both toilets in the house were broken, and the family used facilities at a nearby store.

For one and a half month the house had no heat. Light sockets dangle from the ceiling without bulbs or fixtures.

The hall pours water when it rains. "IS IT MY FAULT? A woman has so many children?" a landlord asked.

"I can't afford to repair a place completely after a gang of children get through wrecking it."

Mrs. Elnora Matthes, Mrs. Everett's mother, said "People don't want to rent to people with children. How do they think they got up in the world?"

Mrs. Everett said her son, Wayne, asked a sheriff's deputy who came to put the family out why he wore a gun. "We are not bad people. Why you got that gun?"

The deputy replied that an old woman once blasted away at those responsible for evicting her.

"Do you just put the furniture out in the street?" Mrs. Everett said she asked.

"No. If it's not out by your deadline, it will be locked in a bedroom and you'll be locked out," she said he replied.

Witt named city attorney by council

More than a month of speculation ended this week with Mayor Frank Curran's announcement that an Ocean Beach man will be the new city attorney.

He announced the appointment of John W. Witt, 38, of 4269 Santa Cruz Ave., to replace Ed Butler, who resigned in mid-January to enter private practice. Witt, the chief deputy in the civil division of the attorney's office, was selected by the mayor and City Council in executive session.

Eight persons, including Robert Teaze, acting city attorney and assistant city attorney under Butler, had applied for the job, which has a salary range of $27,576 to $33,528. Witt will serve the remainder of Butler's term until Dec. 8.

Witt said yesterday that he will seek reelection to the attorney's job in September for a four-year term.

A native of Los Angeles, Witt joined the staff here in January, 1961, as a deputy city attorney in the criminal division. In 1964 he was named to head the criminal division, and in 1966 he was appointed by Butler to the top post in the civil division, the No. 3 position behind Butler and Teaze.

Planning unit sets meeting

The next general meeting of the Mission-Pacific Beach Community Planning Committee will take place Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pacific Beach Elementary School, 1234 Tourmaline St.

This meeting will be open to the public, but it is not a public information meeting and only general committee business will be conducted, according to John Stiebel, vice chairman.

Council plans to meet citizens face-to-face

Deputy Mayor Sam T. Loftin has announced plans to initiate a new series of face-to-face discussions between San Diegans and the City Council.

Loftin said yesterday he plans to hold a series of public meetings—at least one per council district—in the near future. A similar series was held three years ago when Councilman Allen Hitch was deputy mayor.

"The community meetings are intended to bring the government closer to the people we serve—to enable council members to discuss current programs and goals, and to enable citizens to ask questions and make suggestions on city projects and operations," said Loftin. The deputy mayor said the previous meetings were "very well received by community organizations and by citizens."

Loftin said the sessions will be arranged in cooperation with the councilman in whose district the specific meeting is being held and with community organizations in the districts.

City planning commissioners once again tackled proposed residential-visitor R-V rezoning in two areas of La Jolla this week, acting on one and continuing two.

The commissioners finished their deliberations on a city-initiated rezoning from high-density residential (R4) to residential-visitor in Bird Rock, but delayed action on R-V request by Robert Haniman, who owns a portion of the acreage proposed for R-V by the city, plus adjacent acreage he wants rezoned.

Approved and sent to the City Council was a recommendation that 3.9 acres on the east side of La Jolla Boulevard be rezoned for medium-density residential use (R3) rather than R-V. As a part of the same action, commissioners recommended that a 1.1-acre parcel on the west side of La Jolla Boulevard near Collina Street be rezoned R-V.

Still under consideration in the Bird Rock area is Haniman's request that 2.6 acres he owns on the west side of the boulevard be between Calumet Street, Midway Street, and Collina Street be rezoned R-V.

Commissioners delayed action on the rezoning until proposed street closings on Calumet and Chelsea can be considered, along with a tentative subdivision map. A new hearing before the commission has been scheduled for April 21.

Residents of the Sun Gold Point area and other surrounding residents voiced opposition during both hearings. Persons in the Sun Gold Point area said the Haniman development of additional hotel units would provide no buffer zone between their single-family homes.

In the third hearing, commissioners voted, 4-2, to rezone 25,000 square feet of property on the northeast side of Ardath Road between La Jolla Shores Drive and Torrey Pines Road to residential-visitor. It had been in the R4 and a single-family zone. The acreage was adjacent to other parcels in the area that had been rezoned R-V under a city-initiated proposal.

FOLK SINGER HINTON Songs of our wars.

Hinton slates 2 songfests

Sam Hinton, La Jolla folk singer, has scheduled two performances this week before different groups.

On Wednesday he will open San Diego State College's American Studies Lecture Series with a performance of American wartime songs. The appearance is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the council chambers, Aztec Center, at the college.

Hinton will sing, comment on the songs and relate them to the American way of life and thought in general.

The performance is the first in a series of lectures entitled "War and American Culture." The songs are examples of American music which has developed from public attitudes during various wars.

On Friday Hinton will be the featured guest at the San Diego Public Library's "Family Night" program at 7:30 p.m. in the third-floor lecture room of the Central Library, 820 E St.

Hinton, director of school relations at the University of California here is also a marine biologist who formerly was on the staff of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla. He has made many recordings and is in frequent demand as a performer and master of ceremonies at folk song festivals.

An Abortion First!

By MRS. WILLIAM MATHEWS

Three La Jolla women have returned from Chicago where they attended the First National Conference on Abortion Laws.

The theme of the conference, held at the Drake Hotel from Feb. 13-16, was "Abortion Law Reform: Modification or Repeal?"

Mrs. Philip Bonner, Mrs. William Mathews, Mrs. Jeff Siegel, all of La Jolla, attended as delegates of the local group, Abortion Counseling Service. They were joined by more than 350 other delegates from 36 states.

The conference featured nationally prominent speakers from many fields, including the Rev. Dr. Joseph Fletcher of the Harvard Divinity School, Norvall Morris of the University of Chicago Law School, Percy Sutton of Manhattan, N.Y., Betty Friedan of the National Organization for Women, Mrs. Marc Hughes Fisher of the National Council of Negro Women, Dr. Alan Guttmacher of Planned Parenthood-World Population and Lawrence Lader, author.

Speakers at the conference emphasized that current abortion practices, both legal and illegal, are economically discriminatory. The poor are denied legal abortion care at a much greater rate than the middle class and well-to-do, and they cannot afford or find good illegal care.

Results of improperly performed abortions have become one of this country's most critical public health problems.

Speakers also pointed out abortion laws, created largely by male legislators, deny a woman her fundamental right to control her own life.

It was also shown that opposition to abortion is a matter of religious belief and the legal control of abortion therefore violates the Constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Following two full days of speeches and workshops, during which the theme, "Modification or Repeal?" was debated, the conference adopted the following resolution: "Recognizing that to compel a woman to bear a child against her will violates her basic human right, the First National Conference on Abortion Laws takes the position:

- 1) That the decision for or against abortion should be free of legal encumbrances so that women and their physicians may be able to exercise their best judgments, and;
- 2) That all abortions should be voluntary, and;
- 3) That abortion should be subject only to the general laws regulating medical licensure and practice.

The Conference urges the repeal of all laws relating to abortions performed by licensed physicians. To this end the Conference urges:

- 1) The equal availability of abortion services to all women, regardless of economic status.
- 2) The immediate formation of a citizens' committee in all states.
- 3) The establishment of a national organization for the repeal of abortion law which will
 - a) Coordinate and accelerate action in all 50 states.
 - b) Recruit and mobilize the maximum number of active members.
 - c) Work to augment the present funds for abortion study and legislative and constitutional reform so that a minimum annual budget of one million dollars is realized.
- 4) The continuation and expansion of current abortion counseling services.

Following the adjournment of the conference, delegates reconvened to form the National Association for the Repeal of Abortion Laws, which will implement the recommendations of the conference resolution.

A steering committee was appointed to conduct elections for the board and to take initial organizational steps.

The local Abortion Counseling Service has been in existence for more than one year. It has helped more than 150 women obtain abortion care, maintains a pregnancy test service, and conducts educational activities using printed material and a speakers bureau.

It is non-profit and has a board of directors which includes members from the fields of medicine, psychiatry, social work and education.

Guild treated to pancakes

St. Joan's Guild, the evening guild for professional and business women of St. James By the Sea Episcopal Church, met Tuesday for its traditional Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper in the parish house at Silverado and Eads Avenues.

Program for the night was "Youth in Transition on the University Campus," the second in a two-part series on changing values of youth in today's high school and college worlds. The first part took the form of a panel discussion with members of local high schools in a question and answer session that dealt with problems at their own level.

The Rev. Leslie J. Atkinson, chaplain at the University of California at San Diego, presented the program to the group.

The guild seeks to involve women in the parish who prefer to attend evening meetings. Mrs. J. Holton Messick is president of the guild.

Town Talk

HAVE YOU HEARD . . . of Biafra, West Africa?

I am sure you have seen at least one picture of the millions of children and people, who are dying there from starvation. But perhaps you have closed your eyes . . . there are so many sad pictures in the newspapers and magazines these days. Well, one local gal who didn't is Mrs. G. H. Marine, international affairs chairman for the Clairemont Junior Woman's Club. Joan (Mrs. G. H.) decided to do something about it, so she mailed out a copy of a page from the February issue of Redbook Magazine with an excellent article suggesting that people send 25 cents to help the people of Biafra.

Joan mailed the letters to all 21 Junior Women's Clubs in San Diego County and suggested each member send 25 cents to the address listed in Redbook, Dept. B, 230 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10017.

Hats off to Joan! I believe this is one of the most worthwhile projects in which the women's clubs in San Diego could participate. And as a matter of fact, all of us, anyone who reads about Joan's suggestion, whether a club member or not!

Twenty-five cents is a very small amount to help people who are to quote Redbook "hiding in the bush, children separated from their mothers, lost. All are starving. Famine experts say an adult can exist up to 40 days without food; a child 14 days . . . the children are dying the fastest. The newborn don't last at all; their mothers have no milk."

Susan Garth, a humanitarian, has helped focus the attention on the children's plight and knew it would be impossible to save the children inside Biafra, so bulldozed a path to evacuate them.

They are now being flown out to Gabon and the Ivory Coast and Susan is talking about trying to get 100,000 children out. Since it costs three dollars a day to maintain a child . . . she is trying to raise $24 million.

A huge sum? Perhaps not so huge when you consider the millions going into war machines, which will not be diverted to starving children. Anyone have one quarter to spare?

CLAIRE STUARD'S . . . slogan for her La Jolla bridal shop always was "We Pamper Brides" and believe me, that is exactly what she and her staff did!

Claire (Mrs. Ray Scott) is retiring from business after 20 years and Mrs. Louella Jackson (a bridal consultant for Claire) is taking over the bridal salon, which will open in a remodeled cottage on Prospect Street after March 1.

The apparel end of the business at 7880 Girard was sold to George Rowley, present owner of Sanford's in North Park, and well known in La Jolla as a display specialist some years ago.

But back to the brides . . . Claire can remember many funny and some sad stories in the many years she "pampered the brides." For instance . . . several years ago, the order was late coming in from Los Angeles so Claire's husband Ray decided to drive up and get the beautiful bridal gown plus eight bridesmaids dresses.

Well, guess what . . . it turned out to be the first day of the riots in Watts and Claire was worried until the time he got back home, he would never make it!

Another bride being married in Montana left La Jolla without her bridal veil. Since the house was locked, Claire quickly made another headpiece and veil and rushed it to a plane to Montana . . . when Claire and her staff did the entire wedding (bride's gown and bridesmaids) they went to the church or home to help them get dressed.

They always remembered to pack a case with thread, scissors, needles, hair spray, pillow for ring bearer and kleenex for all the women who cry at weddings!

Yes, as long as the bridegroom made it to the altar, Claire Stuard helped many a bride get there!

She first went into business in 1949 in the Shadow Mountain Club in Palm Desert (she kept that shop six years) . . . then one year later, she opened a store at 1024 Prospect, an old two-story residence and added another summer shop at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club, where she sold clothes to many distinguished guests.

The Scotts leased their present location at 7880 Girard and completely remodeled with Jack Buck, noted designer, doing the job. In 1964, they added the beautiful bridal salon, although they had always "pampered the brides."

Claire has four children Mrs. Donna Nelson of Anaheim, Ray Stuard of La Jolla, Ross Stuard of Pacifica and Dave Stuard of Palm Springs. She has three step-children Mrs. Ronald Winter of Hacienda Heights, California; Dick Scott of Clairemont and Terry Scott of Salt Lake City.

That's not all . . . she has 18 grandchildren. Guess they'll keep her busy now she has retired!

GYMNASTICS AND SWIMMING . . . might be Judy (Mrs. David) Cheesman's hobbies, but her field is biochemistry and her ultimate goal is research in cellular geriatrics.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Neal of Silver Springs, Maryland. Her father is a research chemist at the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Maryland.

Judy has been awarded a $250 scholarship by the San Diego Branch of the American Association of University Women to help continue her education at the University of California at San Diego.

The announcement was made by Mrs. William C. Cowing of Clairemont, program area chairman in education.

DRUG ABUSE TALK Dr. Thomas P. Johnson will speak to junior and senior high school students on "Drugs and Drug Abuse" at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the YWCA North Center.

A question and answer period will follow his talk.

This is the second in a series of drug abuse programs to be presented by the YWCA North Center, 2550 Garnet Ave. For further information contact the YWCA at 274-4260.

LJ Museum offers all-media art class

Mrs. Perietta Hester is conducting an adult, all-media class at the La Jolla Museum of Art to continue for six weeks.

The class began Friday and will be held each Friday from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the museum studios. The final class will be March 28.

The course has been planned for the museum's Doccents, but a few openings for museum members exist. Information on enrollment can be obtained by calling 454-1083.

During the six sessions, students will work with assemblage, watercolor, acrylics, oil paints, plastics and drawing materials. Guest speakers will lecture on various aspects of working with these materials.

Julius Aceves of Frazee's Paints will discuss the variety of modern art materials. Robert Berg, an instructor with the UCSD Extension, will give a lecture on printmaking. Harry Bliss of Palomar Junior College Art Department will speak on "Plastics in Art." Mrs. Hester also plans a speaker on kinetic and environmental art as part of the course.

This is Mrs. Hester's second year with the all-media workshop class.

She is a native San Diegan and received her masters in fine arts from San Diego State. She is now an instructor with San Diego State's extension division.

"These classes are designed to promote an awareness of art and to expand the enjoyment of the arts by enlarging the students' experiences with art materials," she said. "One of my main goals is to remove preconceived notions about the 'proper' way to create art to help the students feel free to do what they want to with the art materials we will be using. Every great artist has broken the rules governing what was proper to art in the previous generation."

JUST WED—Anita Louise Wernstrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wernstrum of Pacific Beach, became the bride of Thomas Richard Jimenez, son of C. S. Jimenez of Brawley, Saturday in All Hallows Catholic Church in La Jolla. The couple plans a honeymoon in Acapulco next month.

Jimenez-Wernstrum wed in All Hallows

Mrs. Michael Jones attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Nicks, a cousin of the bride, Candy Dickard and Debbi Flint, both sorority sisters of the bride. Mrs. Jones' gown was aqua satin in an empire style. The attendants' gowns were of leaf green satin also in empire style. All carried cascades of pink carnations.

Local umps honored

The San Diego Umpire's Association conferred lifetime memberships to five of its members in special ceremonies held last Tuesday at the Conference Building in Balboa Park.

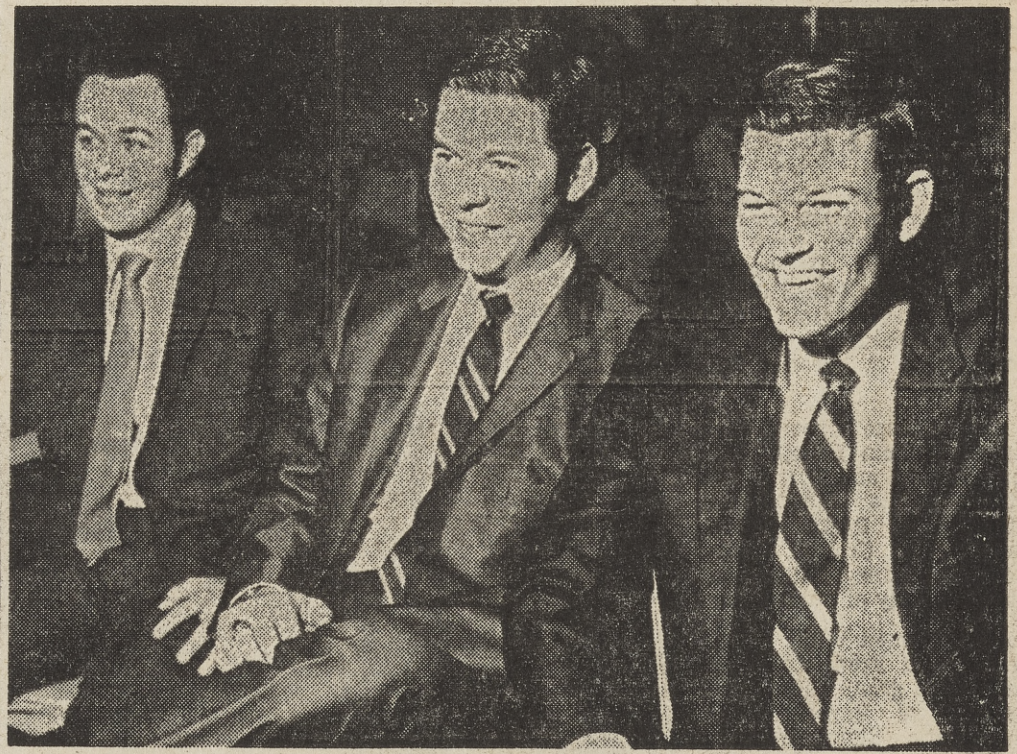

Two of the men honored are currently assigned as umpires in the major leagues of baseball. Doug Harvey is a member of the National League Umpiring staff and will see duty in San Diego this year. He represented the senior circuit in the World's Series last year.

ED RUNGE, ALSO HONORED by the Umps, is a veteran of the American League. He was joined in the ceremonies by his son, Paul, who is currently assigned to the Pacific Coast League. The Runge's hope to be the first father-son team to umpire in the major leagues.

A pair of former Pacific Coast League arbiters completed the awardee's list, Frank Kerr, who also played in the majors and is a former Padre, is still active in the association. He is currently a scout for a major league team and works for the county.

Earl Lennon, also who is still active in the group, gave up the pro's for private business.

The awards were presented by Jim Estes, past president of the local Umps group. Estes served the men in blue for more than two decades, and was instrumental in having both the senior Runge and Harvey go into professional umpiring.

BOB CARROLL, CURRENT president of the group announced the last call for arbitrator aspirants to sign up for the association's school.

The group meets each Tuesday, 7:30 to 9 p.m., at the Conference Building in Balboa Park. Until Spring training calls them away, both Harvey and the Runge's serve as instructors for the group.

Padres open spring drills at Yuma Ariz.

The San Diego Padres of the National League are in camp and getting ready for Spring training. The players meet with Padre President E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi Thursday morning and reached accord in record time.

The majority of players are in Yuma but several have permission to report late. Workouts are scheduled to begin today. Each player was assured he was selected by the Padres as a potential future major league star.

"WE DIDN'T DRAFT YOU for today or tomorrow" he told the assembled players. "We didn't pick names from a hat. We expect great things from you, this year, next year and for a number of years."

The Padre president gained an easy rapport with his charges. He told them there was only one player on the club who wouldn't be grabbed up by his former team if he were made available.

"THE DODGERS DON'T want Ferrara back" he told the assembly with a smile. The players roared, Bavasi and Ferrara are warm friends and came from the Dodgers together.

Not all the players felt they could report because of the rift between the owners and Players Association. Pitchers Billy McCool, Dick Kelley and infielder Ed Spiezio reportedly will wait to report to camp until agreement has been reached between the groups.

ALL THE PLAYERS DID agree, however on how delighted they were in being selected by the expansion Padres.

"I want to move my family here as soon as I can" said pitcher Tom Dukes, who performed for Houston last year. "One summer in Houston and you really can appreciate San Diego."

"I'VE ALWAYS LIKED San Diego" reported infielder Bill Davis, who played here last year as a member of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League.

Infielder Ed Spiezio joined the others in claiming an immediate fondness for Padre town. "I'm looking forward to playing here," he said.

Workouts begin today at Keegan Stadium in Yuma, Ariz. The Padres play their first exhibition game against the California Angels in two weeks and a lot of ground must be covered between now and then.

ONE THING IS CERTAIN, everybody from President Bavasi to the clubhouse boy, is glad the waiting is over and the players are on the field.

A lifelong dream for many, both in and out of the Padre organization, is taking shape in the desert at Yuma. The dream will reach fulfillment on April 8 when the San Diego Padres take on the Houston Astros in the opening game of the National League in San Diego.

The Davis Cup, most famous trophy in sport, will be on display at the 80th Pacific Coast Sectional Men's Tennis Doubles Championships at La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club Feb. 23 through March 2.

Thanks to the victory by a U. S. team in the Challenge Round of the international tennis competition last December in Australia the huge cup with a recently added new base will be on exhibit during the doubles tourney.

Davis Cup matches date back to 1900 when Dwight Davis offered the trophy for competition between nations a donation that was inspired by these very same Pacific Coast Championships, then held in Del Monte. The Pacific Coast tourney dates back to 1890.

The famed cup will be transported here in a station wagon by Beach Club President, William S. Kellogg, from a tournament ending Feb. 23 at the Balboa Bay Club. "It's too large to transport in my sedan" Kellogg said.

Gene Littler earns T of C invitation

San Diego's own Gene Littler, suddenly turned tiger after years of acting like a less ferocious member of the feline family, has become the 23rd qualifier for the 17th annual $150,000 Tournament of Champions. Tournament chairman Allard Roen made the announcement this week.

Only winners of major PGA tournaments in the 12 months since the last T of C are eligible to compete.

Warhawks rank 2nd in County

John Hannon's Madison Warhawks captured their third straight Western League Basketball title, Tuesday with a 93-50 laughter over hapless Mission Bay. The Hawks ended the season with 23 wins, 5 losses and a league mark of 11-1, and were named second, behind Helix (25-2) as the best team in the County.

THE WARHAWKS DID IT this year without the services of a "big-man." In the previous two league wins, Madison had a giant in the pivot but this year Phil Edwards, 6-6, very ably led the way. He scored a personal season high of 32 points in season finally, but he is the first to say the Warhawks are a team. They play as a team must, if they are to win and that is what they do best.

Four players scored in double figures for Madison, though none played the entire game. Hannon cleared his bench, getting every player into the final game of the regular season and each Madison player scored at least one point.

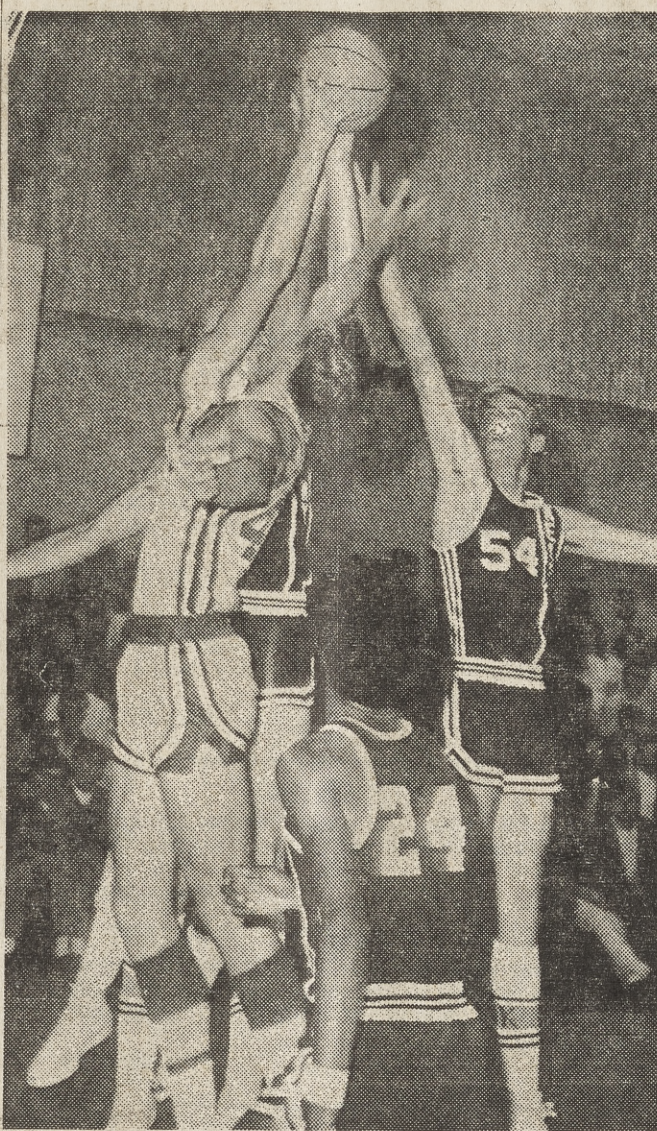

Following Edwards in the Warhawk double scoring derby were Bob Brady with 13, and Mike Dohen and Dave Smith with 11 each.

IT'S BEEN A LONG SEASON for Mission Bay, who ended the season with a 3-22 mark, 0-12 in league play. The Bucs are largely a junior team, however, and should do better for coach Larry Willis next year.

Madison had but two juniors on the squad, Tom Woods and David Smith. That could indicate the Warhawks are at the end of their domination in the Western League, but don't you believe it. Hawk Coach John Hannon will weave a new contender and be ready when the whistle blows next season.

PLAYING THEIR LAST regular season game for the Madison Warhawks were Don Backes, Bob Brady, Mark Burbach, Mike Cohen, Dennis Dasceno, Larry Davis, Phil Edwards, John Sexenian, Russ Vivian and Duane Wilkerson.

KOMETS' SCRAMBLE

University's Mike Grisham (42 in light uniform) goes up for the rebound taken by an unidentified Kearny player. The Komets' Bruce Sauer, (54) goes up to help with teammate Wilburn Strong (24) waiting for the clearing pass. Dons hung on to win 66-61, to tie the Komets for second place in the Western League.

DONS TAKE TWO

University's Ken Brush (22 in light uniform) leaps over Kearny defender Bruce Sauer's (54) outstretched hand to knock in two for the Dons. Uni players in the play are Mike Grisham (42) and Don McCormick (12). Komet Steve Scott (44) is up for Kearny. Both teams earned a berth in the CIF post season tournament.

Dons earn tie with Komet win

By RICHARD YEAGER
Sentinel Prep Writer

Kearny went to University's gym Thursday to settle the battle for second place in Western League. The Komets had scored over 250 points in the last three games. Wilburn Strong was set to break the record for total points in one season and had been hot from anywhere on the court for the last two weeks.

University, one game in back of the Komets, had defeated the also-rans of the league and wanted to grab a spot in the CIF playoffs. The Dons did just that. University broke down Kearny's potent offense and downed the Komets 66-61.

THE DONS STREAKED to a 12-4 lead with 3:32 remaining in the first quarter with Larry Leonard scoring six points in the first two minutes of play. University repeatedly threw the bomb to Leonard who kept getting clear behind Kearny's defenders and kept hitting the basket. The second quarter was a copy of the first. University had solid command of the game and led 34-24 at the half.

Third quarter action saw Kearny get into the game as the Komets trailed the Dons 53-47. The fourth period saw Kearny almost blow the game wide open as the Komets finally warmed to their task.

With 2:30 left in the game University led by three points. A Don stall proved effective and University, playing a team game, earned the win.

LEONARD LED UNIVERSITY's scoring with 25 points. Don McCormick canned 14. Ken Brush netted 11 while Tim Gallagher potted 10 points.

Wilburn Strong paced the Komets with 24 points. This breaks the all-time scoring record for one season with 724 points. Lee Tyler collected 17 while Steve Scott popped in 16 points.

Prep classic matches made

University and Kearny ended the season with identical league marks of 9-3 but an agreement has been reached that awarded second place to Kearny and third place to the Dons. Both will play in the CIF post season championships getting underway on Tuesday.

The agreement came when Kearny's cage coach Wayne Colbourne and Hector Macis of University asked the school officials not to hold a tie-breaking playoff game, after it was learned both would be invited to lay in the post season series.

Hoover High School was invited as the "at-large" school in the Eastern League and pairings for the prep classic were made yesterday.

Helix of the Grossmont League is top seeded in the tourney, Madison of the Western League is second.

In the first round of play, home teams have been designated, a flip of a coin will determine the home team.

Your children, in their formative years, need to:
.... LEARN RESPONSIBILITY
.... LEARN TO USE INITIATIVE, IN THIS WORLD OF COMPETITION.
.... LEARN TO MEET PEOPLE
.... LEARN THE VALUE OF A DOLLAR

The Sentinel needs young businessmen from 10 to 12 1/2 years of age, to bring this community newspaper to you and your neighbors.

From this first business experience these youngsters learn invaluable lessons that help them in the future. We of the Sentinel work closely with these youngsters and you, their parents. We too are parents, therefore we make sure the problems faced by these youngsters are not beyond their abilities, particularly with our help and your help.

If you have a youngster in this age bracket, call the Circulation Department of this paper, 274-3212, and let us discuss our carrier program with you and your child.

TAXPAYERS ASK IRS

How do I get money fast?

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q—What can I do to get my refund as soon as possible?

A—The best advice we can give is to file a complete and accurate return as early as possible. Also, use the pre-addressed envelope provided in your tax package. If you don't have one, send your return to the address listed in the 1040 instructions.

The largest single reason for delays in refunds last year was a missing or incorrect Social Security number. Be sure to enter the correct number for yourself and for your wife if it is a joint return.

Other reasons for refund delays are failure to attach required W-2 forms, failure to sign the return and omission of other forms or schedules that may be required.

Q—How does someone over 65 handle medical expenses?

A—Only those medical expenses in excess of three percent of adjusted gross income can be deducted by taxpayers 65 or over when expenses are itemized. One of the deductible medical expenses is health insurance.

One-half the premiums paid for medical insurance up to a total of $150 without regard to the three percent limitation may be deducted. Premiums not deducted under this provision should be added to the taxpayer's other medical expenses subject to the three percent rule.

Premiums paid for supplementary benefits under "Medicare" qualify under the provision described above, but not that portion of the Social Security taxes withheld from wages for "Medicare" benefits.

Q—What can I deduct for state sales tax?

A—Use the sales tax tables in the 1040 instructions to determine your deduction. There is a table for each state which has a sales tax. Deduction is not limited to sales tax tables. Actual sales tax payments can be claimed if your records can support the total amount.

In addition, the sales tax paid on the purchase of automobile can be deducted. This should be shown on a separate line as a separate item.

Q—Does IRS have anything that would explain the taxes a small businessman has to pay?

A—There is a "Mr. Businessman's Kit," Publication 454, which can be obtained from local IRS offices. The IRS also has a publication called "Tax Guide for Small Business," Publication 334, which should be extremely helpful to you. It may be obtained by sending 60 cents to your IRS District Office or the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Q—I may be able to claim my uncle as a dependent. What items do you include when figuring out support?

A—Support includes food, shelter, clothes, medical and dental care, educational and similar expenses. If items provided as support are goods or lodging then the fair market value of these items should be used.

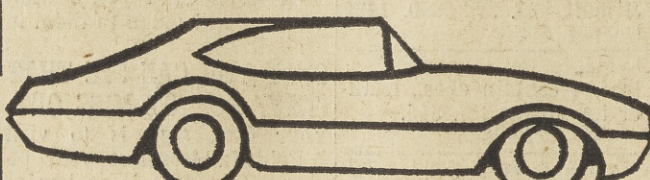

Check the 1040 instructions for further information on dependency tests.

Q—My home was damaged by floods last year. Is there anything I can deduct for this on my federal income tax?

A—Yes you may be able to deduct your loss as a casualty loss when you file your return. For details on how to determine what you may deduct, send a post card to your district director and ask for a free copy of Publication 457, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts."

Senior center set to open

A service center for San Diego senior citizens will be opened Thursday at the city Recreation Service Center, 2811 Jackson St., Presidio Park.

Income tax information, breathing and diabetes tests, employment counseling and Social Security benefit help will be available.

The one-day-a-month service is part of an experimental plan to establish a multi-service center by a voluntary senior citizens' advisory committee. The committee represents staff representatives from 26 community agencies.
